

I received a STSM grant to be seconded in the Department of Dermatology in the Medical University of Vienna. I was hosted in the group “CDL Skinimagine” under the supervision of Prof. Florian Gruber. During my stay there, I was impressed by the infrastructure and the scientific excellence of the group. In addition, I really enjoyed the collaboration with all the members of the host group as well as with their collaborators. It was a short but quite fruitful experience in every aspect.

In general, I have a very positive experience of the EpiLipidNET action. In the first place I did a STSM in a research group building a new bridge of collaboration. During the EpiLipidNET action I participated in several review articles, I collaborated with eminent researchers, and I learned so many new things regarding lipids and epilipids. Through the action I met other scientists with the same interests as me, we shared ideas and built up nice collaborations.
